BRODHEAD.

Traders say there never was such a scarcity of hogs in this part of the country.

Several ice houses were filled here last week with five-inch ice. Parties handling it say it is the clearest and purest they ever saw.

A little daughter of Postmaster John Robins is very sick. W. A. Carson is clerking for R. H. Hamm. Jake Elder made a flying trip to Livingston.

Our two physicians say they are going all the time; that there is considerable sickness in different parts of the county. Pneumonia fever is prevalent.

Solomon Northern, an employee of the L. & N., residing here, was struck by a train near Bardstown Junction a few days ago and sustained painful injuries.

Tony Brooks, of this place, the big section foreman who works a crew of men at Shepherdsville, is visiting his brother, George Brooks, at Williamsburg.

Christmas passed off here very quietly. Some drinking, as usual, but every one acted nicely about it. Lots of jugs and packages of whisky were shipped here but most of it was for persons out in the county.

"Bell" Lawrence, the low flung scamp who scattered small pox through this section last fall, and which caused one death and cost the county up into the thousand mark, was fined $100 at the last term of the Mt. Vernon circuit court.

The railroad side track at this place is again crowded with timber, such as logs, lumber, cross ties, spokes, chestnut wood, etc., and there seems to be no let up in sight. J. G. Frith has recently bought of John Leese a tract of timber for $1,500, also a boundary from Mrs. James Moore for $2,100. Mr. Frith says that owing to the low price of lumber he may not begin to cut this timber until next autumn.

The Baptist Sunday school entertained its pupils with a tree, after which the ladies of the church gave a box supper and about $35 was realized. The Methodist Sunday school treated the pupils to a tree and a little entertainment in the way of songs and recitations. The Christian church Sunday school had no exercises. The Hamiltonian Society, which was to have rendered the play entitled "The Squire's Daughter," Xmas night, was unable to do so on account of the illness of one of the main actors. The play, however, will be given New Year's night and promises to be very enjoyable. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Christian church. Every one who can should witness this play and assist a worthy cause.

Visitors in and around town during Christmas are numerous. Among the lot we noticed Dr. O. O. Stone, of Middlesboro, with Emery Albright. Geo. Frith, of the Louisville Dental College, Ed R. Gentry, of the Louisville Law School, Byron Owens, of Georgetown College, are with the homefolks. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schubert, of Defiance, O., are with the latter's parents. Clarence Perkins, of Junction City, was the guest of his grand-father, Mr. R. S. Martin. Ezra Shivel, of Greensburg, is visiting his parents. Albert Albright and little son, William, are with W. H. Albright. Rev. J. W. Sayers, of Pineville, is with friends here. J. P. Hamm, of Walton, is the guest of relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carter, of Gratz, are with their sons, Dr. W. F. and Joe Gratz. Misses Elizabeth and Georgia Vermillion, of Danville, are guests of Miss Elizabeth Tharpe. B. Mayer, of Atlanta, is with friends here.

Kills Her Fox of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up. I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, it's unequalled. Only 50c at Penny's Drug Store.

At Toledo, O., Miss Carol Hunt was instantly killed and her parents were wounded, not seriously. Joseph Mackley, who is charged with having shot them, is sought by the police. Mackley had been refused the hand of the girl.

Barricaded in a dwelling house and armed with a shotgun and revolver, James F. Roach, who shot and seriously wounded his mother in Memphis, was hemmed in by a posse, but managed to slip out and escape.

"There are no words good enough to express my high opinion of Mi-o-na as a sure cure for indigestion."—J. F. Click, Bridgewater, Va., '09. G. L. Penny guarantees Mi-o-na. Large box, 50c.

The bride is well known here, where she lived many years and is greatly loved by our people. The groom is originally from Orlando, Fla., and is a fine young business man. They will make their home at Middlesboro.

A FRIEND.

J. A. Rogers and Miss Irene Ruble, two popular young people of Garrard county, drove to Burgin Dec. 23 and were joined in wedlock's holy bonds. They took the train for Louisville and other points of interest and will be gone several days on their bridal tour. The groom, who formerly lived in Lincoln county, is a clever and progressive young farmer, while his bride is the handsome and accomplished daughter of one of the oldest and wealthiest families of Garrard. Their many friends join in wishing them all the happiness this life affords.

On Dec. 24, E. E. Gann and Miss Ethel Eads surprised their many friends by driving to Stanford and having the nuptial knot tied. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Eads, of Hustonville, and is exceedingly pretty and lovable. "Ned," as he is familiarly known, is a son of James F. Gann, of Casey, and a prominent farmer. The contracting parties are formerly from Monticello and their courtship has lasted for some years. On Christmas day at the bride's home an elegant dinner was served. Many handsome presents were received. They will soon go to housekeeping on his Casey county farm. Their many friends join in wishing them a long, prosperous and happy wedded life.

Mr. W. P. Kincaid, of this place, and Mrs. Anna Russell, of Lebanon, were married at the residence of Rev. W. T. Baird in Lebanon Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Barker, relatives of the bride, stood with them during the ceremony. Mr. Kincaid is the well-known tobacco buyer and a very clever gentleman. His bride has lived in Stanford two winters and is well and most favorably known here. Another notable event in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Riffe, of the West End, was celebrated Christmas day when all the children and grand children gathered at the old home to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their wedding. A grand dinner was indulged in and presents of every description were showered upon the happy pair. Bro. Montgomery made a beautiful talk referring to the noble character and worthy, active life of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Riffe are both in good health, active and awake to the demands of the day. It is indeed a great help to one to spend a day with these old people and note the devotion and well balanced manner of their lives. A worthy example is here to be found and such people are a blessing to any community. May the blessings of God attend this grand old couple.
